To whom it may concern

My name is James Feldmayer, I am applying for the position of Database Developer / Systems Analyst, as advertised on Seek.

I believe I will be highly successful in this role as I have gained experience doing very similar work in my current role where I am performing exceptionally. In my current role where I develop ETL pipelines, I have to load data from multiple file types, typically CSV and XLSX. A challenge of the role is that we have agreed upon different schemas for each client for some processes, in order to achieve this we have a staging table and a unique parsing procedure for each client's data file.

We have many jobs which automatically run nightly which clean our database. I have made contributions to this process by maintaining these procedures. I have also proposed and created multiple procedures in this family which have made a valuable contribution to our data quality at Bravure Group. As well as updated existing procedures to improve their functionality and the quality of the code.

Just like my current role the database and reporting is based on Microsoft technology. We use T-SQL, Microsoft SQL Server, Excel and SSIS. Through using these tools daily I have gained a very strong understanding of these technologies. I have had only minimal interaction with SSRS as our team primarily uses PowerBI for our reporting.

I believe despite my limited professional experience I am very well equipped to be extremely successful in this role.

Thank you for your consideration,

James Feldmayer
